UPDATE: Re-introducing a PhD in Computer Science

1. A list of external reviewers have been nominated by the Curriculum committee. We need to nominate 4 willing reviewers to OGPS, who will select 2. After removing conflicts, we invited 4. So far 2 have confirmed, 1 declined with recommendation for alternate.
2. Letters of support requested from Engineering, Math, SOCIS. Positive feedback from Engineering includes:
It looks wonderful, and the ES&C/CENG group is happy to see the revival of this PhD program.
3. The circulated draft proposal, which includes comments from Engineering, has been given to the Graduate Curriculum Manager in OGPS for review.
4. Target for external review is November 2020.

Motion

Motion: The School approves moving forward with the proposal to reintroduce the PhD in Computer science, understanding there will be minor edits based on feedback from the consultation of other Schools and the Curriculum Manager.
